The French Leader Gambetta

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

Six months ago the most prominent man in France was of course, Napoleon. However the critics might affect to despise him, the empire stood or fell in his person, and by the very nature of his government no supporter near the throne could rival him in prominence before the nation and the world while among his adversaries there was no such leadership as to concentrate attention upon any one man. But now after six months of defeat revolution humiliation and desperate struggles the foremost personage in France is—not Trochu whom sagacious military observers pointed out long ago judging by his abilities as the coming leader—but Gambetta. In the little knot of irreconcilables who for the last few years, with growing courage and audacity have protested against the dynasty which the people chose, this Marseilles advocate was only one neither so respected as Favre his senior nor so notorious as Rochefort his junior. But the crucible of war brings about all sorts of unexpected results and at this stage of the struggle it is Gambetta whose personality infuses France. If the hasty makeshift of September falls before the next great crisis as the empire crumbled under the last one Gambetta will sink into obscurity and his place in history will be very trivial but if it crystallizes into a republic this man who has done so much will occupy a position like that of the first Napoleon in the first republic and will have a far better chance of being next emperor of France than that fourth Napoleon who is playing about the lawns of Chiselhurst.

It is not easy for an observer of the Saxon race to appreciate this Leon Gambetta. His lofty contempt for truth is the salient point which offends our Yankee sense of propriety as it offends our British cousins. Punch not long ago recognized his existence in a cartoon but it was a sketch showing him insolently shutting the door in the face of Truth and resenting her attempt to communicate with France as she stood fondly conning over a bulletin of delusive victories. Thomas Carlyle has a sneer for him as a minister flying over the country in a balloon ballasted with nothing but outrageous public lies. But this view, just as it is, is nevertheless onesided and overlooks those traits of temperament and race which make variety in the world. The London Spectator, in an article published a few weeks ago pointed out some of the things which this man has actually done us ing an occasional falsehood to keep up the public courage just as he used a host of other tools just as that first Napoleon, who constantly occurs as a suitable comparison in treating Gambetta, was accustomed to employ the same instrument when it served his purpose. He has leaped into the position he holds with no more authority than the first lounger one meets in Washington street might assume to be mayor of Boston in case of a riot. But he has made armies—not only armies in name, but armies capable of fighting battles and of winning partial victories, armies with artillery and a commissariat. He has made immense contracts, reaching all over the world for arms and ammunition. He has negotiated loans. He has put down local insurrections in various cities, thrusting such men as Train and Cluseret into jail, and shooting others without mercy. He has introduced discipline not only among soldiers but among Generals neither of whom in France for the past ten years have known the meaning of the word. And he has done this without military training or experience in public administration a young man whose one great gift that of fervid eloquence, has not been generally deemed a sign of qualification for the duties of practical statesmanship. That a man who has done all this has lied now and then in doing it seems no more a suitable point for criticism in the light of accomplished results than the fact that Sheridan broke one of the commandments many times in the torrent of words with which he rallied a beaten army at Cedar Creek.

But we must wait for the end before fully estimating the character and the worth of this enthusiastic laborious thickset black bearded lawyer of thirty five, who flies over Bismarck and Von Moltke in a balloon dashes up within rifle-shot of the enemy in a railway train rides rough shod over the prejudices of venerable Generals snuffs out an empire with one hand and crushes a socialist conspiracy with the other is in every part of France at once, and keeps up the enthusiasm of a great people and of his own heart under the most discouraging circumstances known to history. Of all the conflicting rumors with which our sole remaining cable has perplexed us during the last few days none is more significant than the story that Gambetta at last contemplated an armistice. From our last advices this appears not to be true but of this we may be sure; when Leon Gambetta takes a step toward surrender France is indeed at the end of her struggle.

SINKING OF THE BRITISH SHIPS.—A London dispatch of December 27th gives the following account of the sinking of the six British ships by the Prussians in the river Seine, of which much has been said in late dispatches:

Information has just been received here of a dastardly outrage which has lately been perpetrated by Prussian troops upon a number of English subjects. Six English ships which were lying at anchor at Duclair—a small village situated on the Seine—were fired upon by the Prussian troops, and the crews being unable to offer a formidable or prolonged resistance, were at last compelled to surrender. The Prussians then boarded the vessels and after securing the crews by binding them, they proceeded to ransack the ship for valuables and other plunder. What property of value was found on the sailors was rapaciously seized by the Prussians. After their appetite for rapine had been satisfied and everything that could be discovered of any value had been seized they turned the ships out from the wharf into mid stream and scuttled them. This was done with the view of impeding the navigation of the river, which, if left undisturbed, might have proved advantageous to the French forces in the transportation of war material to the front. This outrage was committed notwithstanding the fact that these vessels had discharged their cargoes of coal under the protection of Prussian permits. This fact establishing as it does a serious charge of breach of treaty against Prussian authorities but aggravates the intensity of feeling agitating this city and country on the matter.

The European journals which have come to hand almost unanimously anticipate in their comments the fall of Paris. They base their arguments on the precedent of 1814 though Paris is so much stronger than then, having instead of a few contemptible redoubts and 100 guns, 12 leagues of wall and 15 citadels. The population then only 700 000 is now 1 836 000. The whole 22 miles of ramparts only require 150 000 men to man them, and if the total number of guns required were really mounted, and the 30 entrances hitherto left open were well fortified, if there were no treason, internal insurrection or panic. Paris, some thought would make a bloody resistance, and many thousands of Prussians might perish before its bastions even in a few days of storm. The grim giants hunger and disease were not sufficiently accounted for by this theory and the cable telegrams are fatal to the foresight of our European exchanges.

The following amount of land business has been transacted at the Land Office in Olympia during the month of December. Number of acres sold for cash, 26 678½; entered under the homestead act 880; final proof on homesteads, 840; located by agricultural college scrip 960; located under the pre-emption act 1 [illegible]. Total amount, 20 593½ acres.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JANUARY 6.

News from Versailles.

LONDON Jan 5—A correspondent at Versailles writes on the 2d, that the bombardment of the forts northeast of Paris continues vigorously, and uninterrupted by anything. The return fire is weak, particularly from Noisy and Rosny and the destruction of the forts is certain. It is believed the attack is intended to prevent a sortie from that side and is only preliminary to a general bombardment. Events are evidently pressing toward a climax.

Information here leads to the belief that Chanzy is making a desperate effort to advance on Paris via Chartres. Considerable excitement is created here at the exposure of the fact that the manufacturers of America have been as active as English manufacturers in supplying arms to the French.

Bismarck has been confined to his bed for the past few days but is now recovering.

Reports from Paris state that serious quarrels exist between the members of the Government, and also that deep resentment is expressed against some of the acts of the Delegates at Bordeaux.

Germans Making Desperate Efforts

LONDON Jan 4—It is known in the highest German circles that desperate efforts to reduce Paris are being made. On the reduction of the forts on the southwest and northeast sides of the city, the enceinte will be stormed. The present movement of Bourbaki and Chancey is more dangerous than ever.

The French Army of the North

LILLE Jan 4—The battle fought by the army of the North on the 3d inst, resulted in a great victory for our arms. Gen Faidherbe reports that the fighting lasted ten hours, that he drove the Prussians from their positions and occupied the villages held by them in the morning. The losses on both sides were heavy.

The villages of Bapaume and Dobsignies are totally destroyed. The fortress of Peronne, in this department, has been nearly destroyed by the bombardment, which commenced last week. It still holds out.

Another Battle Announced

HAVRE, Jan 4—The Prussians in force attacked the French on the left bank of the Seine to day. Result not yet known. No particulars of the battle received.

"Soft Sawder" for Austria

BERLIN, Jan 5—The Correspondence, in a leading article, express the warmest feelings of amity for Austria.

TOURS, Jan 4—Col Aripont has been authorized to form a corps of 12,000 men all well armed.

Doubtful Story

LONDON, JAN 5—It is rumored that a Prussian courier has been captured by Francs tireurs near the Belgian frontier. On his person were found dispatches urging the United States to press the Alabama claims. The report is hardly credited.

A Paris correspondent of the London Times thinks further resistance of Paris will be brief, and that food will fail before the end of the present month.

Fire from French Forts.

MARSEILLES Jan 5—Heavy firing prevailed all day yesterday, which prevented attacks on forts. Gen Von Goeben has disposed of Faidherbe's army.

Austria and Germany

LONDON, Jan 5—Von Beust, in reply to a dispatch from Bismarck, notifying the Cabinet of Vienna of the completion of German unity expresses a sentiment of gratification with which the Austrian Government notices the Chancellor's friendly allusions to the treaty but does not enter, at present, on a formal discussion of the features of the contract. The Baron passes to a consideration of the restoration of the German Emperor as a standpoint that the unity of Germany, established under the leadership of Prussia, is an act of historical significance and importance. He affirms that the restoration of the German Empire is not only received with satisfaction by the people of Austria, but is personally gratifying to the Emperor Francis Joseph, who, he continues, sincerely wishes to cultivate the friendship of Germany. This would be a pledge of the security of union and lasting peace. The glorious history of the Hapsburgs is linked with the history of Germany, and will be remembered by the Emperor only with feelings of the warmest sympathy and with his best wishes for the future of the German nation.

Further War News

LONDON, Jan 5—The Garibaldians claim a victory, in a skirmish on the 2d inst over 800 Germans.

VERSAILLES, Jan 5—Reports that General De Chancey is advancing are confirmed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan 4—The Porte reports serious difficulty with the Viceroy of Egypt.

Spanish Affairs.

LONDON, Jan 5—The is news that the Cortes has been completed as follows: Serrano President of the Council; Moritos, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Montero Rios, Minister of Justice; Berganzy, Minister of Marine; Sagosta, Minister of Interior; Ullos, Minister of Public Works; Acola, Minister of Colonies.

The London Times this morning has an article on the Alabama claims question. It says England only desires by fair concession and frank allowance to bring about a settlement. This is a foolish quarrel in which two great nations are engaged.

Jules Favre has informed Count Bismarck, through Mr Washburne, the American Minister, that he knows nothing of the European Conference, and will not leave Paris to attend it.

Tammany's "Little Game"

[From the Chicago Tribune, Dec. 22.]

The New York politicians are opening their campaign for the nomination of Hoffman by repeating the "little game" so successfully played by or for Mr Seymour. This is to concentrate the supporters of all the other candidates upon Hoffman by magnanimously resigning in their favor. The New York Leader of last week publishes an announcement that Hoffman withdraws from the canvass in favor of Hendricks, of Indiana. The Leader is the Tammany organ par excellence lately edited by the Sheriff of New York, and now reputed to be in the immediate charge of Mayor Hall. It is dripping with the Tammany fat, and reeking with Tammany secrets which are too precious to be entrusted to any medium not under the control of Tweed and Sweeny.

Its present mission, undoubtedly is to do magnanimous for Hoffman to repeat that he does not desire the office that he and his friends are pining to nominate some better man. This strategy worked remarkably well in the case of Seymour whom Hoffman, in many points resembles. It is not for us to say that it cannot be repeated, since in Seymour's case, it was only the repetition of one of the standard tactics of demagogues. Cæsar thrice upon the Lupercal declined a kingly crown and few of his successors but have imitated him. But the country knows so well that Hoffman is straining every nerve to secure the coveted bauble, that it will be interesting to see him practise his coyness and blush when honors press upon him unawares.

It is quite certain that the Democratic leaders are solacing themselves with strong hope of success in the next campaign. There is not the least doubt therefore, whatever may be the pretence, that Hoffman will do his level best to get the nomination, and it is altogether probable that neither the East nor the South will present any strong competitor.

A deputation at Victoria has waited upon the Governor in reference to the petition asking for a subsidy to the Puget Sound mail steamer. His Excellency recognized the importance of encouraging commerce between Victoria and Washington Territory but regretted that the condition of the finances of the Colony would not justify an appropriation for that purpose. After confederation the claims of this trade for consideration would be fully provided for by the Dominion Government.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 6—Judge [illegible] day, overruled the demurrer [illegible] Institute, in case in the [illegible] urt brought by property holders [illegible] of Union Square. He held that property holders had a right to bring action, and that the Supervisors could not divert the public squares of the city from uses for which they were set apart, and therefore had no power to lease the ground for the Pavilion. The case will now go to trial on its merits.

They [illegible] that defendant could not be held for the [illegible] local taxation and administration of just [illegible] State rights, beyond the control of the Federal Government and cited many cases bearing [illegible] point. At the close of the argument Judge Sawyer rather pointedly asked Hamilton if the 14th and 15th Amendments to the Constitution were void, what protection white men in the Southern States, where negro voters predominate, would have against special taxation, which would ruin them or drive them from the country? This remark was understood as indicative of the probable decision of the court on the demurrer. The case as argued on demurrer, was taken under advisement with the promise of an early decision. The case will come up for trial by jury in the U S Circuit Court on Tuesday next.

The application of Dennis Gunn, who shot Edward Murphy for the seduction of his sister, to be admitted to bail, will be argued before the 4th District Court this afternoon. The counsel for the defence said that no provision for conviction under such circumstances could be found and he trusted there never would be one. The District Attorney Byrne, said he knew no more of the fact than he had read in the newspapers, but conceding them to be as stated by Mr Campbell, it was a question whether the jury would look on the affair as a cold, abstract matter of law as murder, or would convict him of something less than murder, or acquit him entirely. Taking the matter as a cold proposition of law, the killing was murder, but juries are human, and it is impossible to say how they would look on the case. The case was continued until 1 P M to morrow, to enable Byrne to examine more fully the facts in the case.

FOREIGN NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Spain needs the sagacity of her wisest counsellors to be saved from tumult. The republican party know each other. They are organized have many able men, and have faith in their cause. The new King will hardly follow in the wake of other Spanish monarchs. He will shrink from the policy of a Narvaez but, even if the struggle remain a constitutional one it is still attended with danger. The tongue of Signor Castelar is more damaging than many regiments.

The majority represent a tonnage of from 3 000 to 6 000. But the ships it is thought are undermanned. Twenty thousand sailors are not enough. First—Because it impracticable to accomplish; second—because they are satisfied that Sumner is the most capable man in the Senate for the position. Hereafter a majority can arrange matters so to bring treaties and other like subjects before a special session and thus prevent them, or such of them as Sumner opposes from going to the Foreign Committee. Many of the most radical Administration Senators are satisfied from the words of Sumner which have been repeated to them, that he is not opposed to the general foreign policy of President Grant and that he said much in the excitement of debate which he did not intend to say and which he regrets. He does not express any animosity against the President, and he intends to give all Administration measures a fair and cordial support."

Eldorado Ditch and Placer Mining Company

[From the Baker City Democrat.]

Such is the name, or title of a company, which has been formed recently. W. P. Richmond—well known in the Commercial world—being President and Hiram McHenry, Secretary. The capital stock of the Company is a half million dollars, and it is incorporated under the laws of Illinois. Their property, as a Company lies on Burnt river in Baker county and consists of rich placer claims which they have taken up and have had recorded, and will further consist of a ditch, which they will soon set about constructing. Said ditch will run from Burnt river canyon, along down the river, for fifteen miles, covering some of the richest placer mines now to be found on this coast.

We are assured by N W Donnell, Esq., an experienced miner, and who is largely instrumental in forming this Company that the dirt from the top to the bed rock pays $1 0 per day to the hand with the present comparatively poor and inefficient appliances for the extraction of gold, and that the bed rock pays from 25 cents to $1 to the pan. The gold is coarse and worth at least $15 to the ounce.

We need not say that we most cordially bid this company God speed, for all such combinations of men and capital benefit to a greater or less extent the country in which they labor. There is plenty of room for them in the county and for all who may wish to come.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING JANUARY 7, 1871

The Republican Party and its Adversaries

There is to day within the United States but one well defined political organization That organization is the Republican party It has a past that it is not ashamed of and which it does not desire to obliterate a present which is signalized by good results of daily achievement and a future which it is confident of its ability to work out and realize It cheerfully accepts the burthens of its mission as it modestly receives the credit due for its success in establishing its progressive principles There is no one able to read but who can state with certainty the policy of the Republican party It employs no shams and deals in no ambiguities In this respect it differs widely from the party which opposes it Democracy, so-called, fights beneath a cloud. What it wants and what it proposes to do are alike wrapped up in impenetrable mist. It has no past for it declares the past is dead It is afraid to talk of its past and wants to obliterate all records of its action during the last ten years It dares not bring its record before the people, and when others attempt to drag it into the light it tries to skulk and hide and find refuge in oblivion.

As it has had for years no past which it is willing to have discussed, neither has it a present. It has about ten thousand articles of agreement with the public one-half of which contradict the other half It is simply drifting about on the political sea the decayed hulk of an old organization that hopes as it moves along to gather little by [illegible] "cast-off" of other parties, until it [illegible] strong enough to battle with the [illegible] Lately it struck against a knot of [illegible] under the name of "Revenue Reform" and it has been shouting hozannas over the unity ever since But as yet "Revenue Reform" claims to be a wreck of its [illegible] does not like to attach itself to the [illegible] and rotten lumber of Democracy It prefers rather for a while to drift about on its own hook in the wake of Republicanism [illegible] here Democracy fails to have a pres-[illegible] after [illegible] on its sweetest smiles, [illegible] that Revenue Reform utterly refuses [illegible] with it and so it at last, proposed to be fast to Revenue Reform. It does [illegible] because it can find nowhere else to fasten and is incapable of marking out an independent course of its own.

The old virus of secession and of sympathy with the rebellion is still its most notable [illegible] This [illegible] itself continually The McCreery resolutions in the Senate the other day were a specimen. Another resolution introduced in the House by a Democratic member (Jones of Kentucky) on the 19th December, was in the same order That resolution recited the old Democratic-secession doctrine that the Government of the United States was established as a confederacy of co-equal States; that the question of the right of secession was in the beginning debatable; that the seceding States had only appealed to the right of revolution and acted in accordance with their convictions. This resolution received a considerable percentage of the Democratic vote of the House, and there can be no doubt whatever that the doctrines it embodies are believed in by ninety per cent of the party Yet many Democrats will deny that their party is tainted with these heresies If it is not, why do resolutions like these come forth so frequently from the highest authorities in the party?

A clipping appeared in the OREGONIAN some days ago about the Pope which we are sorry to find is giving our neighbor of the [illegible] Sentinel much unhappiness That paper says that the appearance in the OREGONIAN of the clipping alluded to shows prejudice and hatred against Catholics, "and was inserted with malicious intention" This is kind and charitable certainly, for a religious newspaper, which can have no possible means of knowing the truth of what it asserts. This paper publishes a great variety of matter in its columns of news and miscellany, and the sectarian press has no censorship over it, though some, perhaps, would be glad if they could dictate what might or might not be printed. It is, however simply untrue to say that this paper shows any "prejudice or hatred" against any religious sect, or that it manifests any partiality whatever in such matters Articles doubtless are often re-printed in our columns which other denominations than that represented by the Sentinel would object to from their stand-point. As to the article purporting to be the "major excommunication" turned against the King of Italy by the Pope, which was clipped from another newspaper and published in the OREGONIAN, it may be well enough to say since the Sentinel has manifested so much feeling about it, that it is probably not the genuine document and probably it makes little difference to Victor Emanuel whether it is the genuine document or not.

There is an amusing and instructive story told of a German parish who agreed to meet at their minister's house, each bringing a bottle of wine to be poured into his cask as a New Year's present. When they were all gone the worthy man went with his mug to the faucet and drew—a glass of water! Each shrewd and thrifty parishioner had brought a bottle of water and poured it in thinking, "All the rest's wine, we'll get the credit all the same, and who'll know it?" There is danger that our friends about town who are saying "Oh! this money for the west road will be raised," and who are as yet only bringing bottles of water may end up in a city with plenty of water, the whole Wallamet, but nothing else

B Gratz Brown, Governor elect of Missouri, has written a letter to a delegation of colored men in that State, in which he says he is "very sure that no large part of the people of Missouri would now or hereafter wish to disfranchise them Brown is either a fool or knave There is not in Missouri, or anywhere else, one Democrat in a hundred who would not disfranchise every colored man in the United States if it could be done And ninety five per cent. of the Democratic party still hope that the time will come when they can accomplish that very thing

Senator Corbett has introduced a bill to fix the salaries of heads of Executive Departments and Judges of the United States Courts It proposes to increase the salary of heads of departments to $12 000 each and salaries of United States Judges as follows Chief Justice of the Supreme Court $10-500 Associate Justices, $10 000, Circuit Judges, $7 500, District Judges, Judges of Claims, and Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia $6 000 each

A Harmonious Party

A contemporary publishes for the comfort of Democratic readers a list of the leading issues and their chief advocates which is evidence of harmony and coherence in the party It is so well put that we append it as follows

In favor of state right doctrine as a leading issue—Gov English of Connecticut, and about one half of the Democracy

Opposed to state rights as being a dead issue—Gov Hoffman and the other half

In favor of paying off the national debt—August Belmont and the bloated bondholders among the Democracy representing about one third

In favor of paying it in greenbacks—George H Pendleton and about another one third of the Democracy

In favor of repudiating it in toto—"Brick Pomeroy" and the remaining one third

In favor of revenue reform and opposed to a protective tariff—the Western and Southern Democrats

Opposed to the abolition of the protective tariff—the Pennsylvania and Eastern Democrats

In favor of a white man's party plank—the rank and file of the party generally

In favor of saying nothing about it on account of the negro vote—the astute leaders of the party

In favor of undoing the reconstruction acts and other Republican measures—Frank P Blair and numerous other party leaders who lack his courage to say so

Opposed to meddling with them—S P Chase and all the new recruits

In favor of public plunder—all of them

TWISTING —The OREGONIAN a few weeks since thought that the San Domingo job was a dead letter in the President's Message, as the last Senate refused to ratify the annexation or purchase project of the President, and believed that the Senate was justifiable in such refusal Now it appears that the OREGONIAN was not as wise in this matter as it might have been and its predictions have not been fulfilled, and now it comes out praising the measure, and sees a thousand benefits to be derived from the purchase of this island It is remarkable what certain changes the OREGONIAN can make —Oregon City Enterprise

It is remarkable what an unscrupulous liar the editor of the Enterprise can be Here is what the OREGONIAN said a few weeks ago

The President discusses with some earnestness the San Domingo question, and adheres with much pertinacity to his opinion that the acquisition of that island would be very advantageous to the United States To support his views he presents strong arguments Recent indications, however are that the Senate is still as immovable as ever and will decline to ratify the treaty

Not a word was uttered in opposition to the proposed annexation, nor was it intimated that the "Senate was justifiable in such refusal" No opinion was expressed on the subject. It is a habit with several contemptible, little sheets, like that issued at Oregon City, to concoct lies of this sort, alleging that the OREGONIAN has said this or that, and then to go on at great length to denounce its alleged inconsistency

The Herald grudgingly publishes the address of the Railroad Committee, saying in a half apologetic way that it does it "by request" Mr Hallock, we distinctly remember, introduced in the Council a certain ordinance bearing on this subject "by request" also Singular coincidence! The Herald "went for" Mr Hallock for that act now let Mr Hallock "go for" the Herald for it

WAR MISCELLANY

Letters from both armies represent the resistance of the French as most determined, and that even the peasants, who have suffered everything, are bushwhacking German soldiers all over the country, and are anxious that the war should go on until the enemy be expelled from the soil The Germans are not well provided for, and dissatisfaction with the prolonged struggle is widely expressed Those claiming to know say Paris has food to last till March 1st

The Austrian Government has authorized an official intimation to be given to the European Powers interested in the matters which will come under discussion at the forthcoming Conference to the effect that if by any agreement which may be concluded by the Conference, the neutrality of the Black Sea should be annulled, or in any way suffer by infringement or violation, the Government of Austria will then demand, as a duty to herself, fresh guarantees for the protection of the mouth of the river Danube

A dispatch from Versailles, Dec 26, gives this Great excitement prevailed throughout the camp to day, created by the fact that six French officers who had been captured by the Germans during the recent sorties made from Paris on the advance of the line of the German army, had escaped A company of cavalry were immediately equipped for pursuit, and the fugitives were recaptured after an exciting chase They were tried by a Military Court for the offense, and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment each The severity of the sentence pronounced upon these men is calculated to exert a powerful influence over the other prisoners held by the Germans, and to act as a wholesome check on any such actions for the future

Paris is the center of the war, and all movements of both belligerents relate more or less directly to effecting the object of its capture or relief The Germans must keep an immense army intrenched to prevent a successful sortie and other armies are constantly engaged to protect its communications without, to prevent its supplies from being cut off, and to face the constant attacks of an active and desperate enemy. Thus the difficulties of the Germans have increased with the investment of the Capital, and the French if they have won no decisive battles, have at least gained time, have aroused a sterner spirit of resistance, and have trained a larger number of veterans Whatever may be the final result, they have saved their manhood from reproach, they have vindicated the spirit of their race Had they surrendered easily after the boastful way in which they initiated the war, they would have been disgraced So long as they can resist, with the energy and courage they now display, they have hope of weakening the invader to a point that may make decisive victory possible At the worst, they will have saved their self respect and the respect of mankind Much as we may condemn the motive with which they began the war, it is impossible not to admire the courage with which they prolong it after so many serious reverses

GRANT'S LETTER TO THE CZAR —The Chicago Evening Post thus hits off the report that General Grant has written a letter to the Czar tendering aid to Russia in case of a war with England

Certain unreliable newspapers have undertaken to say that the story of an autograph letter from President Grant to the Czar, offering the aid of the United States iron clad fleet in case of war is false Guess not much when we can produce the letter itself as follows

"Dear Muscovy We are glad to hear that you are to fight England If you get the Englishers up into the Northern ocean you can punch their heads between the icebergs but if they get in on your Black Sea they will be too much for you When Alfred was here he told me in confidence that he would like nothing better than to steal lemons off your Crimean plantation That's his little game, sure as gunny bags Now, Aleck don't let up an inch keep up a stiff upper lip and play the bluff game What I want to tell you is, that if the worst comes to the worst, I'll send you our iron-clads If you get them into the Black Sea they will make the Union Jack look sick You will have to take them overland on wheels, and carry them across Behring Straits on a raft for the things won't float on salt water Chloride of sodium seems to have a depressing effect on them They sink two or three times a day to the bottom of the river, but we fish 'em out again—and you can use them in the same way By Jove I'll go you one better still If the iron clads don't fetch England I'll send you Porter to write letters about the English That'll settle them if everything else fails Mrs G joins me in sending love to Mrs C and the boys Write often

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Tammany's Little Game to Secure Hoffman's Nomination

Hoffman "Withdrawn"

[From the New York Leader (Tammany organ)]

The renomination of General Grant seems conceded by the rival factions in the Republican party and by many who will vote for him in convention that they may beat him at the polls His renomination will however precisely suit the Democratic party because new men are generally most formidable as candidates Whenever office holders return for re-election they are personally upon the defense in addition to the controversies provoked by their political principles or their party organization Besides the Democrats must be inspirited to greater exertions should Gen Grant become the opposing nominee with all his own sins added to those of his Congressmen relations and retainers

The Democratic organs and leaders are not as yet beginning on their side the business of making Presidential candidates. They are saved this annoyance by a score of Radical journals (chief among whom are the Times of this city the Evening Journal, of Albany and the Commercial, of Cincinnati), which write and talk as if holding powers of attorney from Democratic Conventions It is evident to all quiet observers among politicians that never before in the history of parties has there been at the eighteen months preceding a National Convention, less jealousy or machination among Democrats regarding this Presidential question New York Democrats are especially free from contention or discussion on that subject, although our adversaries everywhere amuse themselves with editorials or speeches upon the "ambition of Tammany and the aims of Governor Hoffman"

If it is worth while at this time to say aught about the next Presidency it may be well to assure everybody that the current talk about Tammany and Hoffman in connection with the Presidency is twaddle The sole ambition of Tammany Hall is to remain a local political power for the prosperity of the city and the strengthening of Democratic principles—State or national She has no intention of beginning any interference in Federal politics She adapts them to the saying of Bentham The greatest good for the greatest number, but adds "And the greatest number to bring about the general good"

As for Governor Hoffman, it is not to be wondered at that his name should be suggested in an off hand manner by Democrats all over the country, seven times a candidate for office, and only once defeated his votes at all times attested his popularity with every class At one time—and during the war, when politics ran high—he was re-elected Recorder by the candidacy of all parties Such repeated exhibitions of popularity in the Empire State and city are well supposed to be indications of what it would nationally prove when nationally discussed The man who was twice Recorder and twice Mayor in the Empire City, and twice Governor of the Empire State, may well become nationally canvassed

Yet this discussion and canvass of his fitness for the Presidency really proceeds from sources outside his native State Neither Governor Hoffman nor his immediate friends have proffered for him any claims as a candidate Indeed, his friends and the Democracy of New York may be said to stand committed against him In 1868 the New York delegation persistently put forward, upon ballot after ballot, Senator Hendricks of Indiana If the latter was their choice then, how can they in 1872, should the West press Mr Hendricks go against him? Besides, under the precedents of the past, the next candidate of the Democracy for President belongs to the West. Not only the Eastern or Middle States had the candidate selected sectionally from their vicinage, but he was a favorite son of New York Is it likely that the West and South will twice allow a Presidential candidate to come from the Empire State?

Tammany, in this locality, and the enthusiastic Democrats elsewhere, from Queen's county to Lake Erie, will not, in 1872 have any particular favorite to present. They will be as heretofore they were, for success without preference Whether Hendricks or Kerr, of Indiana, or Hancock, of Pennsylvania or Thurman, of Ohio, or some one not as yet expedientially prominent from the South shall be brought forward, New York State will, we are confident, remain without a candidate; and her Democracy, as events must demonstrate, will not have intrigued for any one of her sons

In fine, should John T Hoffman become the Presidential candidate in 1872, it must be because other States and sections demand him, and not because he has been in any wise pushed upon the convention by the State he so nobly and honorably distinguishes

An Echo from the "World."

[From the New York World (Tammany organ)]

We reprint from the Leader an article whose source makes it noteworthy It contains some suggestions which may be reflected on with profit by the Democracy, here and elsewhere.

Its merit consists in the spirit of justice which concedes the rights of the Democracy of other States, and recognizes the objections which they may fairly urge against the nomination of Governor Hoffman In the exercise of their free choice, they may waive such objections as they are entitled to make, and if, when the proper time comes, they shall think Governor Hoffman the fittest and strongest candidate, New York will be proud of the selection But New York has no wish to accomplish his nomination by dictation or intrigue and if the other States think she is not entitled to the candidate in two successive elections, the Democracy of New York will acquiesce though, perhaps, not finally until after the validity of that objection (if that should be the chief one) has been fairly canvassed A bar of that kind is not absolute unless the Democracy of the other States choose to make it so for a strict interpretation of the rule would preclude the re-election of a Democratic President At the beginning of the century Virginia furnished the Democratic candidate in six consecutive elections At a later period, the party kept running General Jackson until it elected and re-elected him Nor does this rule of locality prevail in the other party, and Illinois supplied the Republican candidate in 1860, '64 and '68 and will again in '72 if Grant is renominated It is, therefore no settled rule either of the Democratic party or of American politics and like all unsettled questions, open to discussion

Governor Hoffman's ability eminence and popularity make it impossible to ignore him in any speculation about candidates unless he should peremptorily forbid the use of his name For our part we hope that the claims of all Democratic aspirants to that great station will be recognized and that their respective merits may be fully brought into view by their friends when the proper time comes for a comparison of their available strength But we should regret to see the public opinion of the party forestalled in favor of any candidate and hope there may be no premature committals even in any individual State to a favorite candidate The article in the Leader is wise, because it is calculated to restrain haste in a matter that requires the utmost deliberation and tends to promote the growth of jealousies among the leading men of the party Let all questions pertaining to the nomination remain in abeyance and be kept open the next year and a half—the question of locality as well as the others And in the meantime let all reasonable aspirations be encouraged and the friends of every candidate treat all the others with justice, liberality and courtesy It is a omen that Governor Hoffman's friends take the lead in setting this example

In politics it is often expedient to reverse the adage about never putting off until to morrow what can done to-day, an idea which has been expressed in the stately phrase "a wise and masterly inactivity" We hope the Democratic party will practice a wise and masterly inactivity in relation to the next nomination for President It must reserve the liberty to act on the fact of the actual situation when the situation becomes known There is no good abstract reason why New York may not as well have the nomination as any other State But there may be excellent specific reasons when the time comes to select the candidate New York is safe to give him her electoral vote without regard to his locality And if it shall seem probable that some great doubtful State, or cluster of States can be carried for the Democracy by giving it or them the candidate and thus assure his election, New York would be recreant to every party and patriotic obligation if it obstructed such an arrangement Again it may happen in the next election as in the last, that the result will turn upon the October elections, in which case it might be suicidal not to give Pennsylvania or Indiana the candidate if such a concession would insure those States Still again, if Grant should be the Republican candidate, and the unsettled Alabama claims should be flung as a fire brand into the contest it might be expedient to select the candidate with reference to that question whereas if it should be settled by General Schenck that question will not need to be considered And yet again the Republican opponents of Gen Grant may bring a third candidate into the field when it might be expedient to make such a nomination as would prevent their drawing off any Democratic votes These are mere samples of the contingencies in reference to which we may be called to act and which make it unwise to commit the party to any particular candidate in advance

While in our judgment nothing should be done to prejudice Governor Hoffman's claims or to exclude him from the range of selection we think his friends are acting with great fairness and discretion in disavowing any intention to push him as a candidate and deciding that his nomination, if made must be the spontaneous choice of the Democracy of other States than New York

AKERMAN'S OPINION —In publishing the opinion of the Attorney General in the railroad case the New York Tribune says

We presume few disinterested persons will doubt the correctness of the Attorney General's construction We only add that before Congress shall grant the companies any relief from the conditions of their bargain we hold it indispensable that their expenditures from the outset be thoroughly investigated and the public well assured that they have honestly and frugally husbanded and applied the resources wherewith the Government has supplied them

General Paladines recently commanding the Army of the Loire is a hale hearty, active man, 67 years old At the time of the declaration of war he was on the retired list but immediately proffered his services

TURDAY MORNING JANUARY 7 1871

CITY.

A Distressing Accident —Thursday evening, as Capt. Flanders was going home after dark he heard a boy cry out for help and at the same time the noise of a dog attacking him The Captain instantly started upon the run to the relief of the boy, but before he reached or saw him the dog desisted from his attack and started for Captain. The latter drew a small pistol from his pocket and fired at the dog which turned and ran off frightened. Immediately he heard the boy cry out that he was shot, and running for him he found him clinging to the fence Medical aid was at once procured, and the boy was found to have received the shot in the groin The wound is a painful, but, it is thought, not a dangerous one Fortunately the pistol from which the ball was fired is a diminutive thing, and the ball, though it struck in the flesh, had so little force as to lodge without striking a bone It is probable that as it was fired at the dog it struck the sidewalk and glanced upward so as to hit the boy. At the time of firing, the Captain had not yet seen the boy The latter is a lad of about eleven years, the son of a Mr Brown The dog is one which has been known as a vicious one, and it is a thousand pities that the shot did not take effect on him instead of the innocent boy. Captain Flanders is naturally greatly distressed at the unfortunate result of his humane effort in the boy's behalf

Death at the Convent —The Catholic Sentinel says "Sister Mary Florence, in the world, Miss Alphonsine Collin, died at St Mary's Academy in this city, on Wednesday evening, January 4, 1871, aged 32 years, 7 months and 29 days The dread scourge consumption with which the sister was afflicted the past two years, thus added another to the millions of its victims On the following morning at 5 o'clock, a solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul, by the Most Rev F N Blanchet, D D our venerable Archbishop at which the choir of the cathedral church assisted Soon after the earthly remains of Sister Mary Florence were taken to St Paul, Marion county, for interment Sister Mary Florence spent fifteen years of her life in religion and of these eleven years in Oregon

The Winds did Blow.—Yesterday was a high old day for weather The wind blew from the south almost a gale during the entire day playing fantastic tricks with signs, ferryboats, crinoline, weather vanes and other vain things, and the rain poured down almost in torrents and constantly It was so rough, at one time, that an elderly man cussed profanely and issued a major excommunication" against it as "Eugene weather" What that meant, we don't know, but we guess it was something bad enough

Governmental —The pedestrian Deputy Governor continues to play the Little Demagogue, by walking to the Penitentiary, though he has horses and a carriage, and might just as well ride The [illegible] says it is even reported that in order to make his ambulations the more meritorious, and to challenge the praises of the Democracy for his economical and ascetic habits, he wears peas in his boots on these journeys! Peas in his boots! Think of that, ye chiropodists, and get your knives

New Volume —New Form —The Christian Advocate of this city has entered upon a new volume, its 17th—as an eight page newspaper In its new face it is certainly a handsome and tidy looking journal The amount of reading matter is considerably enlarged and a convenient system of classification of the various sorts of matter has been adopted, which will be generally regarded an improvement We are pleased to note the evidences of prosperity which the paper [illegible]

Matters at East Portland —The spirit of improvement seems to have seized upon our East Portland neighbors. After entering into a heavy contract to grade Second and B streets, the Board of Trustees has been petitioned to order the clearing of the streets on the high land, of a considerable part of the town The city jail recently built has been accepted by a vote of the Board of Trustees J W Webber has been elected City Surveyor to hold till October, 1872

Real Estate at Auction —At 10 o'clock to-day Mr A B Richardson will sell at action lot 8, block 157, with a six room cottage on it. The lot is situated at the corner of Sixth and [illegible] street. Sale at his auction room. At 2 o'clock he will also sell a tract of 130 acres of land, belonging to the estate of H C Northrup, known as the Fulton property, situated along the [illegible] house road.

Freight Offerings —Notwithstanding the large shipments of late by steamers and sailing vessels, the produce freights offering are beyond the capacity of the steamer which is to sail to-day Freight was declined at noon yesterday The steamer is not entirely loaded, but she is engaged to take a considerable lot of flour from the east side dock, which will fill her chock full.

Trip for Kalama —The steamer Vancouver, Capt. Turnbull, will make a special trip to-morrow (Sunday) to Kalama, leaving her wharf, at the foot of Morrison street, at 7 A M, and returning in the evening Here is a chance for those who have Kalama on the brain.

Board of Delegates —The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Delegates of the Fire Department will be held this evening, at the Council Chamber, at 8 o'clock

AMUSEMENTS.

The Fino Theater —The prevalence of an unusually severe rain storm last evening had the effect to render the audience at this place of amusement, a very thin one The entertainment, however, was a good one and was greatly enjoyed by the few who attended. One thing to the credit of the Bates company can be truly said They always play well whether they have few or many in front There is never any letting down of effort because the audience is but a small one.

[illegible]—The beautiful standard drama of "Caste" will be played at the 2 o'clock matinee to-day

To-night —The drama of "The Stranger" will be produced this evening—Mr Bates in the character of The Stranger, Mrs Bates as Mrs. Haller, Mr Vinson as Soloman, and Ellerton as Peter The entertainment will conclude with the farce of "A Ghost in Spite of Himself"

Soiree.—Mr Chas Cardinell give a soiree at his Dancing Academy, Front street, between Yamhill and Taylor, this evening

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent Importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market notwithstanding a certain firm s n ewhat noted for truth and veracity—so-called —persist in a saying that they are bogus! California made etc

Don t fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOW Co s LATEST MAKE and we think you will coincide with a Yamhill Farmer who after looking round" and hearing the old story about bogus Molines, etc delivered him self thusly Well Myers I ll just chance a couple of those new plows and if they are bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I ll be d—d if I won t take bogus in mine every time

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (Have now only a few left of the last lot) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market in point of material, workmanship and finish having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon Some of the first sold here—three years ago—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with inferior makes that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr Bain for this market

Who the Franc-Tireurs Are, and What They Do.

The war despatches frequently bring news of the operations of the Franc-tireurs in France against the Prussians. The following account of these men is given by a correspondent of the Times:

One thing is certain, that the Franc-tireurs have become a most important element in this war. Not so much from the number of the enemy they may kill off with pot shots, but from the serious interruption they cause to that system of tentacular feeling of the far-distant surrounding country, so to speak, which has been one of the essential features of this marvelous German invasion of France. The Uhlans, sent forward as eclaireurs, 30, 40, 50 miles ahead, and in various directions, duly supported by others connecting them with the armies from which they radiate, while severally ins[illegible] been a great fact an[illegible] this war. They ha[illegible] directions. They ha[illegible] the [illegible] and rumors of the pres[illegible] the Prussians in a dozen points when th[illegible] be really danger only on one. They ha[illegible] their way, illuminated the whole country in advance and and with a clearer than the electric light, prepared for the approach where the ap[illegible] was really to take effect, and have ex[illegible] requisitioned where it was not to [illegible] effect. It has been an admirable, in[illegible] and skillful, as well as audacious system, [illegible] which the French, in their first [illegible] disarmament and helplessness, [illegible] individual initiative, had nothing [illegible] to oppose.

[illegible] Franc-tireurs have grown into a great, [illegible] institution. They are all [illegible] a thousand fashions, but distinctively and unequivocally. They are regularly commissioned and brigaded, and new [illegible] attached to the armies of the [illegible] which they operate and swarm. [illegible] they cannot conceal or disavow [illegible] character. Why have they not a [illegible] to serve and defend their country, thus [illegible], in this way as well as in any other? [illegible] far-penetrating [illegible] corps, who move audaciously [illegible] and hours, and dozens, any [illegible] than they? When [illegible] has lost its Marshals, and generals, and [illegible] France has done, in [illegible] not now in question [illegible] And yet I understand the [illegible] go on, and claim the [illegible] every Franc-Tireur [illegible] as fast as they catch them. A great mistake, in my judgment!

The very peril [illegible] the service more honorable, attracts all the more daring and [illegible] of men. It makes them the more [illegible] and unyielding in the field; it supports [illegible] it sharpens their wits, and if [illegible] them sell their lives more dearly when they find themselves in situations from which there is no escape. The Prussians are radically as well as morally wrong on this point. I have seen some Franc-tireurs clothed in a uniform bedizened and [illegible] almost like the well known gendarmes. An army is entitled to distribute and [illegible] its tirailleurs—why not a nation? [illegible] have sustained this argument against high [illegible] military authorities at Versailles and [illegible] I always found them sore but obstinate [illegible] at.

A DOUBLE CRUSOE. TWO MEN ON A MONTH ON A DESERT ISLAND.—A telegram stated a few days ago that the Government steamer Napoleon [illegible] left Quebec for the lower St. Lawrence, on lighthouse service. The Quebec [illegible] says the principal object of the mission is to remove two men from the Bird Rocks, in the gulf, who have been on this desolate island for more than a month without being able to obtain the slightest assistance, although several attempts have been made. The rocks are over seventy feet high, and to reach the summit the visitor must climb two perpendicular ladders over thirty feet each, an operation attended with considerable risk and trouble. At the base of the island large [illegible] boulders of black stone are scattered at irregular distances, against which and the rock itself the waves, when the sea is running high, dash with tremendous violence and force. In launching a boat from the rocks, a calm day must be selected, and even then the greatest caution observed, owing to the great undertow, which [illegible] as dangerous as the high [illegible] sea. One of the Government schooner [illegible] protection service made [illegible] a week, to reach the unfortunate [illegible] of this Robinson Crusoe Island, but [illegible] the commander, to save his [illegible] ordered the crew to throw all the provisions overboard, with which it was [illegible] the exhausted stock on the island. The steamship Lady Head also [illegible] but was also unsuccessful, to reach the charmed spot. It is decided now that a final effort will be made to reach the rock, and for that purpose a first-class outfit of [illegible], and other required appurtenances have been provided, and, in the event of the attempt proving a failure, it is decided to pull the men away from it through the water by means of ropes tied around their bodies. Three of the boats of the Lady Head were smashed to pieces, and the occupants, with the greatest trouble, escaped with their lives. Mr. Tomlinson, Chief Engineer of the Marine and Fisheries Department, visits the locality on board the Napoleon, and, as this gentleman is possessed of excellent skill and judgment in his profession, it is probable that this trip will prove effective. As a last attempt, Mr. Robertson [illegible] throw a small line from the ship by [illegible] a rocket.

THURLOW WEED.—The Troy Times says: Thurlow Weed has partially regained his health—at least it is much better than at any time during the past two years. His appetite is excellent, he sleeps well, and his mind and memory are fresh and vigorous. The "old [illegible]" is in excellent spirits too, and converses with old-time force and [illegible]. He says, however, that persistent work he cannot endure. He devotes some time every day to the preparation of his autobiography, and it is certainly to be hoped that he may be able to complete it. When finished, it will comprise at least three large volumes, brim-full of valuable political history and entertaining [illegible]. Weed is well-to-do in the world in a pecuniary sense. He enjoys an income of some $30,000 a year, and it is safe to say that he gives away more than half this sum for charitable purposes.

Samaritan Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F. Meets every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, in Odd Fellows Temple, corner First and Alder Streets. Members of the order are invited to attend. By order of N. G.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the [illegible] in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like [illegible] of carriots, uneasiness [illegible] weakness of the limbs, confused vision, [illegible] diffidence in approaching strangers, and dislike to form new acquaintances, [illegible] hectic fevers [illegible] and various eruptions about the face, [illegible] fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, [illegible] and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained [illegible] apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting [illegible] radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who are about to marry who are suffering under any [illegible] sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD

COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company all alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands coterminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 2 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have valid pre-emption or homestead claims to any tract on an old numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government—The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect.
